

Assisted Living Programs (ALP)

An Assisted Living Program (ALP), available in some adult homes and enriched housing programs, combines residential and home care services. It is licensed and regulated by the New York State Department of Health Office of Continuum Care. The program is designed as an alternative to nursing home placement for individuals who historically have been admitted to nursing facilities for reasons that are primarily social, rather than medical in nature. The program is responsible for providing or arranging for resident services that must include room, board, housekeeping, supervision, personal care, case management, and home health services. Private pay, but in many cases, ALP's can accept Medicaid funding. Some Long-Term Care Insurance policies may cover a portion of the cost of this type of program.
